

How To Use The Handicap System Provided As A Free EWGA Membership Benefit

To Enter a Total Score:

There is a 'maximum score' allowed to a player per hole based on her handicap. For example a player with a handicap of 25 can only take a maximum score on any hole of 8 strokes (see equitable stroke control table on the screen shot above). Therefore if you wrote a score of 10 for hole number 5, you will subtract 2 strokes from your total score before entering. If your total score for a round was 105 before adjustments, you will post a 103 here for your adjusted score, because of the adjustment you made for the 10 on hole # 5.

Enter your score for each hole. The system will automatically adjust the score for equitable stroke control (ESC) when calculating your handicap.

If you have chosen to track statistics, enter that data here.

Either type in your putts for a hole, or if you are tracking fairways hit from the tee (FIR) or greens in regulation (GIR), you merely check the appropriate box.

Tracking your statistics is optional, but you will be surprised how it can help you see improvements to your game!

Keep in mind: Two basic premises underlie the USGA Handicap System, namely that each player will try to make the best score at every hole in every round, regardless of where the round is played, and that the player will post every round. For more information on the USGA Handicap System, visit the Handicap section of the United States Golf Association web site, www.usga.org.
